Miss Helen C. Sullivan and Miss Albina B. Juneau, pupils of the Ninth grade in St. Mary's parochlal school, have received during the past week diplomas certifying that they have completed the Palmer course of penmanship. The diplomas are artistically engraved and very pleasing to the recipients. The Palmer system of business penmanship was originated a number of years ago by A. N. Palmer and he now has offices in a number of the larger citles of the country. The system has gained ground rapidly and has been introduced in the public schools of New York city. St. Mary's is the only school in Norwich using the system, and it was started here a year ago, the first diplomas being received by these two young ladies menyear ago, the first diplomas being received by these two young ladies mentioned. There are 200 drills in the course, each drill being sent to the nearest office of Mr. Palmer, where it is criticised and returned. After all the drills have been completed the diplomas are sent out. "Bignity Is What We Use To Conceal Our Ignorance" is Elbert Hubbard's definition of the word dignity.

Unquestionably Elbert is correct, and every thinking person will agree with him.

Think of the people with dignity and count those having it naturally. He who has it naturally, combined with ability, is a great success in life. Those with assumed dignity are—well, they are understood and discounted by the public.

We've no dignity, natural or assumed, and if its use was attempted by us the public estimate us correctly; give us credit for a thorough knowledge of the photograph business; for doing work at reasonable prices. Years of experience in this business exclusively entitles us to it.
